DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's request for reconsideration with respect to the new matter rejection of record has been considered and found persuasive. Finality of the rejection of the last Office action is withdrawn in view of the new rejections set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either of Trulson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5, 578,832) or Brown et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,807,522) in view of Ginestet (U.S. Patent No. 6,225,636)

Trulson et al. and Brown et al. are applied as in the prior Office actions. Neither explicitly discusses correction of cross-talk between three or more dyes.

Ginestet discloses M-FISH or multi-fluor fluorescence in situ hybridization and cross-talk compensation for three or more fluorescent dyes. The matrix algebra for the correction factors from pure dye spots are disclosed. (See at least abstract; Figure 8; column 2, lines 30-40; column 5, lines 35-50; columns 9-11.) Ginestet does not explicitly recite microarrays or chips although these are referenced.

However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to apply the cross-talk correction of Ginestet to microarray technology. As evidenced by Trulson et al. and Brown et al. use of fluorescent dyes with cross-talk correction would have been well known to those of ordinary skill in the art. One would have been motivated to do so for the benefits as disclosed by Ginestet. Note also that Trulson et al. explicitly suggests using more than two dyes.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Dorsel et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,320,196) discloses methods for reducing crosstalk between two or more dye channels.

Bogdanov (U.S. Patent No. 6,245,507) discloses hyperspectral imaging for multi-dye detection of nucleic acids coupled to a solid surface.

Bao et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,251,601) discloses using multi-color fluorescent dyes in DNA chip technology.
